TRAPPED LIKE RATS, 30 ARE BURNED TO DEATH

Woman Accuses Alleged Firebugs

TWO GROCERS FACE PRISON TERM FOR ARSON

They Are Charged With Setting Store on Fire With Kerosene.

STOCK AND FIXTURES WERE HEAVILY INSURED

Three Men on Trial Accused of Having Caused Fire and Explosion.

Six cases for arson were on the calendar of Police Court No. 2 this morning, the record being unique in the history of local courts. The arrests in the various cases were all made within the last two weeks, and unusual circumstances surrounded each of the alleged crimes.

In the preliminary examination of Lazor Brooks and Hymen Freedberg, before Judge Mortimer Smith this morning, what appears to be a strong case against the two grocery store men was made out by Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Henessey, who conducted the case for the people.

The hearing was transferred to Judge Smith's court on account of the number of cases placed before Judge Quinn, who is sitting for Judge George Samuels during the vacation of the latter. The store conducted by Brooks and Freedberg at 3516 West street was discovered to be on fire about 10 o'clock in the evening, August 11, and when the firemen broke into the place it was found that no less than six incendiary fires had been started in various parts of the building.

WOMAN'S EVIDENCE DAMAGING. Damaging testimony was given by Mrs. Mary McGarvey of 3507 West street. She testified to have seen the two grocers leaving the store about ten o'clock of the night in question, while the two have repeatedly stated, according to the detective, that they closed up the store and left an hour before that time. The fact that a big insurance had been placed on the stock and fixtures, and the absolute proof that the fire was started by firebugs, and the store locked up and left to burn indicates that the prosecution has a strong case.

W. R. Stewart, a contracting plasterer, living at 2500 West street, took the stand this morning and told the story of how he discovered the fire and broke into the place, and of discovering all soaked excelsior, and other evidences that arson had been committed. Another witness for the prosecution was Miss Louise Arborel of Angier street, and L. T. Braun, of 835 Tennessee street, Vallejo, who testified that he owned the premises, but that the building proper was insured by him below its actual value.

Brooks and Freedberg were represented in court by Attorney Helo Goldman and Clinton Dodge. They have not as yet furnished bonds and have been returned to the city prison.

THREE ACCUSED FOR EXPLOSION. The same attorneys are representing William S. Bonfield, Israel Meyer and Arthur Nagle, charged with arson in connection with a mysterious explosion and fire at 2142-44 East Fourteenth street, August 29. That a conspiracy with many strange complications, and sensational features resulted in the blowing up of the store is the belief of the detectives who have been working on the case.

The three men were arraigned before Judge Quinn this morning and the preliminary examination was set for September 7. A story of the plot to burn down the building will be presented at that time according to the statements made by the police, that all except in sensational features anything of the kind in the annals of the local police courts. Detective St. Clair Hodgkins is working on the case.

The three men began the work of obtaining bonds this morning, and it is thought they will be successful in qualifying in the sum of $5000 each.

CHINAMAN IS SIXTH. The sixth case of arson was that of N. Gee, a Chinese tea merchant and lottery ticket seller. He was arraigned this morning and his case set for September 8. He was represented in court by Attorney J. A. McGee. The tea store was gutted by a fire at 302 1/2 Webster street July 19, and Gee was captured in San Francisco yesterday by Detectives McSorley and Flynn. He is released on $1000 cash bail.

His arrest was effected as a result of his having "welched" on a lottery debt on Fong, the Chinese with whom he quarreled, having betrayed him to the police.

MISCONDUCT CHARGES AGAIN THRESHED OUT

Henley Tells of the Alleged Promise of Immunity from Prosecutions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—I was the calm before the storm in the investigation before Senator Stone at the Fairmont hotel this morning, and yet, although the surroundings were peaceable enough, squalls could easily be sighted, and there was even that under current of feeling that something startling might break out.

Attorney Barclay Henley was on the stand and he was delivering himself of a series of charges of misconduct against District Attorney Devlin, his assistant, Alfred P. Black, and the entire local staff and office of the representative of the United States attorney general in San Francisco.

They were but the reiteration of the accusation made before the senatorial committee at Washington, resulting in the investigation there, and the holding up of Devlin's reappointment to his present position.

'WEED OUT CROOKS' ROOSEVELT WARNS

EX-PRESIDENT TO WAGE WAR ON GRAFT IN NATION

Pledges Himself to Help in the Battle Against Dishonesty in Government.

"IF HONESTY IS INVOLVED THERE IS NO DISTINCTION" Used to Dislike Being Called "Teddy." Now He Says He Wants It.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt pledged himself to the men of Buffalo today to help them and all sincere citizens to fight crookedness wherever it was found.

"I'll help you just as I did in the past," he said speaking to the Ellyott Club, whose guest he was at breakfast an hour after sunrise. He made a plea for the punishment of crooked and grafting public officials and the election of honest ones in their places, apropos of gradually but permanently raising the morals of political and business life, and he said he thought it a duty to hunt out crooks, and especially crooks in his own party.

"I believe in party government," he said, "but the moment a question of honesty is involved, I recognize no party distinctions, or if I do make any, it is that it is a little more my business to put the grafter and crook out of public life, if he belongs to my party, than if to another. This attitude demands that one's attention be fixed not on financial or social status, but on conduct."

Many Await Him. Nearly 400 members of the Ellyott Club and other citizens representing professional and business interests and a wide variety of political affiliation awaited Mr. Roosevelt's coming from the New York Central station, where he had arrived from Utica at 6:30 in his private car.

As public attention entered he was cheered and "America" was sung with the accompaniment of a regimental band. Breakfast was expeditiously served, and there was less than an hour before the time for Mr. Roosevelt's departure to Chicago.

Among those who got an especially hearty greeting from Mr. Roosevelt was "Tony" Gavin, a Buffalo policeman, formerly a rough rider. The colonel shook his hand across the table and said some pleasant things, in which the words "fully, glad to see you," occurred.

Mr. Roosevelt made good use of the fifteen minutes available for his remarks. The men who heard him, who noted his earnestness in dealing with the subject of crookedness and grafting and frequently broke in with sharp applause, had in mind his expressions within the last few days that "they would have all the fight they want."

"Do Them Up!" He then told the crowd that an engine was "the only thing he could not talk against," and as the train moved off some of the men shouted, "Do them up in the convention, Teddy." Colonel Roosevelt smiled broadly, but made no reply.

Fully 5000 persons greeted Colonel Roosevelt when his special train arrived in Erie. The colonel spoke briefly, chiefly along the lines of the early speech he had made at Buffalo, regarding pure water in the great lake cities.

He was met by a reception committee from Erie, consisting of Congressman Arthur L. Bates, Frank D. Schulze, president of the chamber of commerce, K. C. Sturgeon, president of the board of trade, and Wm. B. Trask.

Congressman Bates was a member of the lower house during the seven and one-half years that Roosevelt was President.

Pressed Into Service

Miller and Weston had been working at St. Maries and were making their way back to Wallace two weeks ago when they were pressed into service as fire fighters in the Big Creek country.

Last Saturday night they were working on a tributary of Big Creek. One hundred yards above them were thirty Italians, fighting a blaze which was coming down the canyon. The creek bed was dry where the Italians were working, but there was a little

Southern Pacific Planning to Consolidate Its Workshops and Repairing Plants as a Matter of Economy

The Southern Pacific Company is carrying out the policy of consolidating its workshops and repairing plants. The concentration of these works at central points is believed to be in the line of economy. Whether it will produce such results cannot be fully determined save by experiment.

Recently an order was issued for the closing of the car repair shops at Port Costa and the transferring the force to the Oakland yards to report to Master Carpenter Henry Englebright. The transfer affects, however, only some sixteen or seventeen skilled mechanics which have been employed at Port Costa as car inspectors and repairers.

Mr. Englebright reports that there are about 600 mechanics now on his division pay rolls and their employment represents an average monthly expenditure of $48,000 or $50,000. Forty or fifty of this number are distributed among the various repair shops located at Tracy and other points in the division, the remainder are employed in the West Oakland yards where the work of car repairing is increasing correspondingly with the growth of traffic. These repair shops are called upon to take care of all crippled rolling stock employed in carrying freight and passengers in the division. They embrace every kind of car carrying livestock, merchandise, fruit, oil or any other product, and the trucks, wheels and frames carrying the bodies of the Pullman cars, as well as the cars employed in the ordinary passenger service.

At the present time the West Oakland car repair shops turn out an average of one repaired car for every working day. The crippled cars that are brought to the yards represent all styles of construction, antiquated and modern, as well as all types used in the railroad service. Constant changes are taking place in the forms of car construction as well as in types, to keep pace with the increasing demands made on the capacity and the resources of the yards. The frames of car trucks are now constructed in one solid steel casting. The body plates are also cast solidly in the same way and then bolted to the steel frame supporting the car proper. Wood in every part of car construction is being discarded and steel substituted and the construction is so planned that the minimum danger of telescoping in the event of collision may be avoided. Then again, dispendous work is being done in associating with splintering in railroad accidents. During the fiscal year, 1909, 100 modern cars were added to the passenger equipment by the division and others are now in course of construction.

WILL LECTURE ON VICE CONDITIONS

"The Modern City" to Be the Theme of Address by Reformer Tonight.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 25.—Adam Dixon Warner, Los Angeles attorney and reformer, who is known as the "Father of the Recall" will lecture at a mass meeting at the Unitarian Club tonight on "The Modern City." The illustrated theme will depict the alleged vice conditions existing in San Francisco, and is given in an effort to enlist the sympathies of the public in the agitation against the white slave traffic. The lecture will be held under the auspices of the American Women's League, with the support of other civic and religious organizations. The clergy of the bay cities will be in attendance.

Warner came before the public prominently a short while ago when he led a band of people 5000 strong through the streets of Los Angeles in protest against the white slave traffic. His action resulted in a strict enforcement of the law against the sale of humans, and the cleansing of the southern city.

The lecturer will hold a mass meeting in Dreamland Rink, San Francisco, on September 1, when the League of Justice, the Municipal League, the California Club, and the clergy of the transbay cities will be represented in protest against prevailing conditions. Warner promises a revelation of the great social evil, and will use many slides to illustrate the conditions in San Francisco.

RIVER CHANNELS TO BE CLEANED

Many Improvements Recommended at Meeting in Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 25.—Many improvements to the channels of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers were recommended last night at a meeting of the consulting river board in the office of State Engineer Ellery.

An important resolution was passed instructing the state engineer to close the break on Jersey island in the San Joaquin river. The estimated cost of this improvement will be $40,000. It was recommended that a cut-off on the San Joaquin river from Frank's Bend on Piper Slough be constructed at a cost of $3000. This will shorten the channel to Stockton.

Other recommendations were that more levees be constructed at Merle's, below Sacramento, and that the state engineer be empowered to investigate the feasibility of reclaiming flooded lands at Los Molinos Bend, near Red Bluff.

The state engineer reports that the Emigrant Gap road is being completely repaired and it will be in first class condition for travel this winter.

SOCIETY GIRL HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Dragged by Runaway Horse For Long Distance; Badly Injured.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 25.—Miss Amy Whitney had a narrow escape yesterday when she was dragged by a runaway horse and lies at her home, 1827 Broadway, today in a serious condition as a result of the accident. Miss Whitney was driving in her trap along Broadway when an axle broke, releasing the wheel of the vehicle and allowing the trap to drag. "Becoming frightened," the horse started on a wild race, with the plucky girl clinging to the reins in an effort to stop the animal.

Picked up by witnesses of the accident, the injured girl was carried to her home, where she received medical attention. Her right arm is fractured and a deep laceration covers her head and body. Miss Whitney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Whitney.

Federal Officials Break Up Swindle

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 25.—United States Internal Revenue inspectors claim to have broken up a widespread swindle, whereby oleomargarine has been sold in many States for fine creamery butter. In the arrest of John J. Daly here, who operated under the titles of the "Kansas Brokerage Company," "The South State Commission Company" and "H. B. Rand," is alleged to have dealt extensively in oleomargarine which he is believed to have secured from illicit manufacturers in this city. The product was sold as "pure creamery butter" and Daly is alleged to have reaped a big harvest in cash and produce from farmers throughout the Middle West.

Three San Leandro Highways Are Oiled

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 25.—The work of oiling San Joaquin, Nevada and Elgin roads, which was ordered a few weeks ago by the board of trustees will be completed this week. Two miles of oiling has been done on these roads at an approximate cost of $2500. The treatment given the streets is a special form of oil macadam and is guaranteed to stand years of hard usage.

POLICE TO HAVE OWN NEWSPAPER

The Record Will Be Published Again As Soon As Hall of Justice Is Built.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The regular police newspaper, published by the local department prior to the fire, will probably be once more in circulation when the new Hall of Justice, in course of construction on Kearny street, is ready for occupancy, about the first of next year.

Chief of Police Martin is now making arrangements for the installation of a modern newspaper plant, and hopes that the publication, which is known as the Police Record, will soon again occupy its former important place.

"I am anxious that the police paper be published again," said the chief this morning, "and to that end I am endeavoring to make arrangements for presses to be installed in the new hall."

USED AS BULLETIN.

"The Police Record was formerly edited by Officer William Harrison, now resigned, and the bulletins for the apprehension of criminals, the finding of missing people, and the new orders for members of the department were placed in printed form in the hands of every patrolman. I think that there is no doubt, but that the publication will be again circulated as soon as we are in our permanent quarters."

The press of the department will also be used to print the hand bills to be circulated in all parts of the country for criminals wanted here.

DOES IT PAY TO SAVE THE PENNIES? WELL, I WONDER IF IT DOESN'T!

Forty Dollars That Came As a Surprise and Was Turned Into a New Suit in Record Time—Commission Man's Wife Persists in Saving Bank Schemes and Wins Out With Flying Colors.

"Hello, where was the fire," said the manager of Osgood's cut rate cigar department to a well known commission man this morning.

"Fire? Why, I don't know. Was there a fire," answered the commission man.

"Looks like it," replied the manager. "You are sporting a new suit and I don't see how you ever jarred enough coin loose to buy one unless you got it at a fire sale."

"Oh," said the commission man. "Your boss gave me that suit—Brad Osgood presented it to me on the installment plan."

"What do you mean—a patch at a time?"

"No," answered the commission man. "A cigar at a time—two and a half cents at a time."

It seems that he started to buy his cigars of Osgood last October after agreeing with his wife that he would deposit in a small bank whatever he saved by getting his smokes at cut rate prices. His contributions to the bank were so small that he considered them quite useless but his wife persisted and regularly each evening he "plunked up" as he said, two and a half cents for every cigar he smoked during the day.

"At first I used to get about half of my cigars elsewhere," he said. "But I soon got tired of paying 12½¢ for cigars and then 1½¢ each for the bank, so finally I got in the habit of getting all of my smokes of Osgood. Some nights I put in a dime, some times 15¢, and once, after a big dinner party I had to put up 60¢. I joked my wife a good deal about it and really thought it a fool scheme until about two weeks ago I found two twenty dollar bills under my plate at the dinner table."

"I was considerably surprised, of course, and asked her what the money was there for. When she told me it was the savings from the little bank I couldn't believe it. It seems I have been averaging between 10¢ and 15¢ a day in my deposits, and since October I had saved exactly $40.05. My wife jokingly handed me the extra nickel for car fare and told me to go downtown and order a new suit, and here you are."

Fred Osgood stepped up about this time and laughingly denied credit for supplying the suit. "Your wife did it for you, my friend," said Osgood. "She kept you at it. But I'll bet you that you didn't ever smoke any better cigars than those I sold you at the cut rate prices."

"That's right," he answered, as he shoved four fat Optimus in his vest pocket.

Osgood sells all 12½¢ cigars for 10¢ and all 5¢ cigars seven for a quarter. He carries all the standard brands in a full line of colors and shapes. His cigars are all identically the same as those to be had at cigar stores except that they are two and one-half cents cheaper.

He has two stores—one at Twelfth and Washington and the other at Seventh and Broadway.

Election Bets Meqal Unde Proposed Law

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—Guy Edde's anti-betting ordinance will interfere with election betting if it passes the council. It was before the council legislative committee Monday and was favorably reported for passage. Howard Robinson, deputy city attorney, held that it would prevent any kind of betting, including on elections.

The new law prohibits betting on any trial or contest of speed or power of endurance of man or beast or between men and beasts or upon the result, trial, chance, casualty, unknown or contingent event whatever. The section defines itself with this sentence: "This section is intended to prohibit that form of gambling known as betting or the laying of wagers."

It originated with the effort to suppress baseball betting when arrests at the ball park disclosed the lack of punitive law.

BOY FALLS FROM CAR.

MELOSB, Aug. 25.—Eleventh Stanley, residing on Forty-seventh avenue sustained a painful injury last night when he fell from a Hayward car in an attempt to alight in the corner of Twelfth and East Fourteenth streets. When he was picked up by the passenger of the car it was found that he had fractured his right leg below the knee. Stanley was taken to a near-by physician's office, and later conveyed to his home. It is thought that he will be confined to his bed for some time.

WOMAN, AGED 70, WALKS TO SUMMIT OF PIKE'S PEAK

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Mary Powell of Philadelphia, aged 70, yesterday walked to the summit of Pike's Peak and back, a trip consisting of 18 miles and a climb of more than 8000 feet, reaching a total altitude of 14,147 feet above sea level.

Mrs. Powell, who is visiting friends in Manitou, at the foot of the peak, is a pedestrian of note in her native city.

At the finish of her trip, which many men have failed to complete, she remarked she was a "little tired."

University of Pacific Registration Increased

SAN JOSE, Aug. 25.—The University of the Pacific started its registration yesterday, and from indications the student body this year will be the largest in the history of the school. President W. W. Guth stated last night, after a busy day with the new students, that there are already registered four more freshmen than have ever before entered on the first day, and that there are in all the classes a total of twenty more than the record.

Many of the older students who will begin school here next registered and there is every probability of a record-breaking attendance. In the conservative of music the enrollment is especially large.

is about as easy to hide in an ordinary house as a taxicab on Broadway. A proper place for the disposal of such possessions when the house is to be left vacant for a time is the Storage Vault of the First National Bank. A clean, dry room, walled with concrete and steel, and secured by a time-lock, makes an ideal depository for valuables of a bulky nature. Prices for storage are reasonable and will be furnished upon application.

PERJURY MAY BE CHARGE IN CASE SOON

Educators Agree Regarding the Definition of Law Against Sororities.

MADLINE THOMSON IS IN A PENITENT MOOD

Her Father Upholds Education Board and Says All Should Be Punished.

That arrests on perjury charges may be made in the case of students who have joined the secret fraternities of the High School after signing a pledge not to do so is openly asserted in educational circles today. It is declared the school authorities will pursue the matter of enforcing the law to the absolute wiping out of the sororities, even if it is found necessary to hale some of the offending students into court.

This afternoon every student in the High School is being asked to sign a statement swearing that he has not had and is not at the present time connected with any secret organization drawing its members from the student body of the school.

That Miss Madeline Thomson, the fifteen-year-old daughter of J. A. Thomson who has been suspended from the Oakland high school because of her initiation in a secret fraternity, may even in case she is transferred to the Fremont high school with full consent of the Board of Education, be denied permission to enter the University of California, is the assertion of prominent educators today.

At the time the legislature measure preventing the existence of sororities was passed a number of high school students rebelled against the order refused point blank to resign. To cover this phase of the case a clause stipulating that all such students forfeited their right of recommendation for entrance to the University of California was adopted.

McCLYMONDS IS FIRM.

Superintendent of Schools McClymonds who has taken a firm stand in the warfare against unlawful secret societies, and who, arguing that in case Miss Thomson is allowed to go unpunished it will serve to strengthen the confidence of the rebellious members, declares that he thinks she should be summarily dismissed and said today:

"I have made no further investigation into the matter since the last meeting of the Board of Education. The other members seemed to favor permitting Miss Thomson to enter the Fremont high school. I believe that by removing her from association with members of the fraternity which she joined, the ill effects might be done away with. Any leaning toward mercy which has been shown in this case is based solely upon the girl's youth and inexperience. This should be influenced by her father, and there can be no doubt, I believe however that after all the warning which has been given, the law should be enforced to the letter and there is no doubt that Miss Thomson thoroughly deserves expulsion."

TAKES BROAD VIEW.

J. A. Thomson, father of the girl is inclined to take a broad view of the matter.

"I have maintained from the beginning that the ruling of the Board of Education should be upheld," he says. "I gave my daughter a tacit permission to join the society in question, but I did so believing that a test case had proved the agitation against that sort of thing null and void."

"If Madeline is transferred to the Fremont high school I am absolutely certain that she will have no further connection with fraternities or clubs of any nature whatever. That she should be punished seems just, but I can not say too emphatically that others who were equally if not more guilty than she should not in such case be allowed to go scot free. The administration of justice should not be hampered by half a dozen pupils. All who are guilty should be accorded the same treatment."

GIRL IS PENITENT.

Little Miss Thomson herself is inclined to be penitent. She is a bright girl, cheerful in appearance and manifestly unoppressed.

"I did not realize what it would mean when I joined the fraternity," she says. "I was asked to do so at the opening of the school term by a number of girls in the junior class whom I knew. Naturally I was flattered and spoke of the matter to my father. He inquired about the law against sororities and believing that such was the law, told him that the law had been set aside through a test case."

Regarding the action of the board the girl on the other hand, parents, like little to say. The inference, however, is that she will gladly accept permission to change from the Oakland high school to the Fremont in case such permission is granted her.

Barber Is Released On Battery Charge

The case against William Papas, a non-uniform barber accused of having attacked Frank Bonneau, a union picket while the latter was under the influence of liquor, was dismissed on the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney E. Decoto this morning. It was shown by the testimony of A. W. Pernin, agent of the Barbera Supply Company and a personal friend of Bonneau, that Papas had merely pushed the man away from the door of the shop when the latter attempted to kick a hole in it.

TALBOT STATES HE WILL NO FIGHT DIVORCE SUIT Won't Battle With Woman, He Declares, and Denies He Has Affinity Who Has Broken Up His Home

Broken hearted over the alleged desertion of her husband, Mrs. William J. Talbot has returned to the home of her mother, Mrs. A. Mesole, of 1241 College avenue, Alameda, where, according to her friends, fruitless efforts have been made by her to win back the affection which it is alleged has been bestowed upon an affinity who lives in San Francisco, where Talbot is with the firm of Hansen & Elrick.

Something more than a year ago discord appeared in the harmony which had held sway in the cottage at 1870 Waverly street for three years, and the husband is alleged to have unceremoniously informed his wife that she would have to leave her home and go to live with her relatives in Alameda, hoping that seeming indifference would instill retribution.

MARRIED IN 1906.

The couple were married in June, 1906, at the home of the bride's mother in Alameda. William J. Talbot is the son of the late William Talbot, connected with the secret Elks club of this city. He is youthful in appearance, being but 25 years old. His wife is a talented musician and known in the circles on this side of the bay. Their home in Waverly street was elaborately fitted out soon after the marriage and everything seemed to be serene in the household until suspicion is said to have arisen that there was an interloper in the household. Talbot and his alleged affinity were often seen together, it is said by friends, and the news soon reached the ears of his wife, who is said to have unsuccessfully demonstrated.

That she does not desire a divorce.

FEAR SPREAD OF DREAD PARALYSIS

Infant Disease Has Made Appearance in Bay Regions, Declare Physicians, and Medical Men Seek Cases

The dread infant paralysis, described by physicians as anterior poliomyelitis, has made its appearance in the bay region, and physicians of the Oakland Board of Health fear that it may develop in Oakland. Epidemics of the disease, which has only recently become recognized as among the contagious diseases, have swept eastern and European cities within the last few years, and the fact that there is no known cure for the affliction has made it a scourge of the most dire character.

No authenticated cases of the disease have yet been reported in Oakland, according to Dr. E. N. Ewer, city health officer, and none have been reported to Secretary George Barker of the Board of Health. This is not conclusive evidence that the disease does not exist here, however, according to experts, as it is not listed as yet in any western city among the reported contagious diseases.

NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN.

A nation-wide campaign to have poliomyelitis included in the reportable contagious quarantine diseases is being waged by physicians. They declare that not until doctors are forced to report the presence of infant paralysis, to have the cases isolated and carefully studied, will it be possible to discover the bacteria responsible for the disease and to work out a method of cure.

The remarkable thing about infant paralysis in epidemic form is that it is a new disease. Many of the diseases apparently new to the public are merely variations of old afflictions under new scientific names, but no record of anything like an epidemic of anterior poliomyelitis is recorded in pathological literature prior to 1843. It is only in the past few months that accounts of the disease have found their way into the medical journals, and as yet the disease has not been carefully and completely described.

EPIDEMIC IS DANGEROUS.

The dread nature of infant paralysis may be seen from the fact that it is contagious by direct and indirect contact, and may be carried from house to house or city to city with provisions or clothes. While the percentage of deaths rarely goes higher in an epidemic than 20 per centum of the infants affected, the majority of the survivors are crippled for life. It is only in the past few months that accounts of the disease have found their way into the medical journals, and as yet the disease has not been carefully and completely described.

Holt and Bartlett first described the disease in epidemic form, and listed 35 epidemics of anterior poliomyelitis prior to 1907. There have but rather a reconciliation, is the belief of friends of Mrs. Talbot. The latter has spent a great deal of time at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. Talbot, of 1870 Waverly street in the Encinal city, where this morning it was avowed that Mrs. Talbot still held the strongest affection for her husband and that if he did not desire to live with her that she should at least receive his support. Whether or not a divorce suit will be begun is not known, though action for support, it is stated, may be instigated on the part of Mrs. Talbot.

DENIES HE HAS AFFINITY.

When seen this morning Talbot denied that there was an affinity in the case, admitting, however, that he had not lived with his wife for the last year, but declaring that he had contributed to her support.

"I did not know that it was the intention of my wife to institute divorce or any other proceedings," he said, "but she is at liberty to do so if she desires. There is nothing to the report that I have been associating with other women. I do desire to get a divorce case, I would not fight a woman, anyway."

He stated that if the papers were filed he might have something to say in the matter, otherwise he would make no statement of his side of the case, intimating that there were two sides and that if he desired a divorce he could produce ample grounds for proceedings. At present he resides alone in the cottage, spending a greater portion of his evenings at the home of his mother on Boulevard Terrace. His wife, still at the home of her sister, is reported to be on the verge of illness as a result of the strained relations existing between her and her husband.

REMAINS OF WOMAN.

Dr. Pepper, the Government analyst, has stated that he has identified the remains of a woman but Dr. Marshall, who conducted the post-mortem, testified before the coroner that he could not identify the remains.

Dr. Pepper's belief can be sustained under cross-examination. At any rate, it seems certain that the prosecution will fail to make good its claim that the fragments are those of a woman who once underwent an operation, the overwhelming weight of medical evidence being that it is a human body which was found in the condition of a woman who once underwent an operation, the overwhelming weight of medical evidence being that it is a human body which was found in the condition of a woman who once underwent an operation.

JEWELRY IN THE CASE.

The police expect to make a case of the fact that Crippen is known to have pawned jewelry after his wife's disappearance, which was known to have belonged to her. The defense will show, however, that he was for years continually pawning and redeeming this jewelry.

Again, was Crippen's flight particularly significant. The defense will point out that it was purely natural for the doctor, in view of his wife's a guilty mysterious disappearance, to feel that suspicion was likely to fall upon him and that it was by no means surprising for him to shirk a police inquiry. To a man of peculiar tastes and abnormal habits, it will be argued, to take flight was a matter of no great moment, especially in view of the fact that his business was as good in on place as in another.

DESCRIPTION OF DISEASE.

"The prognosis of the disease," said Dr. Ewer today, "is somewhat similar to that of a grippe, neuritis, some forms of rheumatism and bulbar paralysis. It has been described as one of these diseases in the past. The disease is now recognizable by able physicians, although the virus which brings it about has not been isolated and is not definitely known. The disease is in the nature of an inflammation of the gray matter in the anterior portion of the spinal column. Entrance is gained to the system by the virus entering by the nasopharynx, as is the case with the virus of cerebro-spinal meningitis. Special studies of the disease have been made of recent years by Flexner, who discovered by experiments on monkeys, the virus of cerebro-spinal meningitis and its method of affecting the subject, and by Joseph Collins, physician of the Neurological Institute of New York. Dr. Collins is directing the campaign for having the disease listed among the reportable, quarantinable contagious diseases."

"Anterior poliomyelitis is very contagious. Mucus from the nasopharynx carries the virus, and forms the medium or culture for the development of the bacteria and the transmission of the disease. Because of the ignorance of this new disease and its direct character, a parent should be made to study it and come to an understanding of it. We do not know at present what treatment to give for infantile paralysis, and can at the best only mitigate its progress and control it to some extent by isolating the sufferers. But as the virus is unknown, it is impossible at this time to control it completely, as we do not know definitely the bacteria responsible, and so can not fight them intelligently."

MARRIES QUIETLY EAGLES GUARDING TO AVOID GLITTER

Daughter of Major Rowan Goes Through Ceremony In Secret.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Prepared to talk matrimony to his beautiful daughter, Major Andrew Sommers Rowan, U. S. A., hero of the Spanish-American war, learned yesterday that she had secretly married a Dr. De Bolt, an attorney of Los Angeles in St. James church to evade an elaborate home wedding which had been planned for the couple.

Nervously she disclosed to her father the news of her betrothal in the lobby of St. Francis hotel. Shortly after making the announcement the father and son-in-law were talking about the affair while the attractive young bride made her escape to her apartments.

Physician Dies in College City at 80

BERKELEY, Aug. 25.—Dr. J. D. Wilson, formerly a practicing physician in San Francisco, who resided in that city for forty years, died at Cloyne Court, where he has been living during the last four years, this morning. Dr. Wilson was 80 years of age. His wife died about a year ago. His relatives live in Canada. Dr. Wilson was known as a musician and astronomer. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—Officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles issued strict orders today, following a meeting of the Grand Aerie last night, at which further testimony relative to the alleged diversion of funds by four former grand officers was heard, to prevent news of the details becoming public. Members who discussed the affair were threatened with expulsion.

Among the witnesses last night was Edward Krause of Wilmington, Del., former vice-president, who took the stand in his own behalf.

E. F. Monaghan of Philadelphia also was called to the stand in his own defense. The principal feature of today's program was a parade, in which almost 15,000 Eagles participated. Special entertainment for the visitors was provided at a local park.

CRIPPEN TRIAL MAY NEVER BE HELD

Charge Against Accused Slayer of Belle Elmore May Be Broken Down

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The dramatic features expected in the trial of Dr. H. H. Crippen, under arrest with Ethel Clare Loeve for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, will be lacking, according to a statement made today by Solicitor Arthur Newton of the defense. It is probable that the fight will be almost wholly over legal technicalities, and that emotional appeals to the jury will not figure at all in the case.

From his standpoint the affair, summed up, appears substantially as follows:

Fragments of a human body were dug up from the cellar of the house Dr. Crippen occupied in "The Lodges." The police said the bricks under which these fragments were found had recently been disturbed, but expert evidence will be forthcoming to the effect that it is impossible for anyone to determine this point, assuming that the fragments had been untouched for as much as a month.

Dr. Pepper, the Government analyst, has stated that he has identified the remains of a woman but Dr. Marshall, who conducted the post-mortem, testified before the coroner that he could not identify the remains. Dr. Pepper's belief can be sustained under cross-examination. At any rate, it seems certain that the prosecution will fail to make good its claim that the fragments are those of a woman who once underwent an operation, the overwhelming weight of medical evidence being that it is a human body which was found in the condition of a woman who once underwent an operation.

SENATOR FLINT DRAGGED INTO LAND CASE.

Suit to Determine Ownership of Property in South Promises to Develop Sensation

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—The name of United States Senator Flint and that of the Los Angeles law firm with which he has been associated for years, were today brought into the hearing before United States Surveyor General Archer, who is today being taken to determine whether the federal or state government has title to about 100,000 acres of valuable bottom lands in Riverside county, lying along the Colorado river in California, 50 miles above Yuma. The testimony which brought out Senator Flint's name produced something of a sensation.

L. L. Moore, a hotel keeper and rancher of the Palo Verde Valley, where the land in question is located, stated that he was induced to file of some of the land as state land on the representation of J. H. Gentry, a slaver and interested in the effort to have the land declared property of the state, who told him, according to Moore's statements, that "he might as well get in or out."

FLINT' OLD FIRM.

The law firm is Senator Flint's old firm and he still maintains offices in connection with them.

"How did you happen to apply for such lands?" Moore was asked.

"Mr. Levering came down into the valley and saw me," he replied. "He said that those lands would be reclaimed by the Government and that I might as well get some or myself. I told him I did not think there was any possibility of that, but he answered me there was. He said that Senator Flint was taking care of the Washington end of it, and that the Los Angeles law firm of G. A. Barker and Bowen were handling our end here."

The firm of Gray, Barker & Bowen are representing in the present hearing various parties who are endeavoring to prove that the land is "swamp and overflow," belonging to the state. If they are successful in their contention hundreds of federal filings would be invalidated and a large number of settlers would be forced to relinquish their land to others.

Fall May Be Fatal To College Teacher

Professor F. W. Baner, who until last year was professor of physiology at the State University, lies at the point of death at East Bay Sanitarium as the result of a fall from a hay loft at his mother's ranch near Concord, Contra Costa county.

At the time of the acting Professor Baner was inspecting some hay, and it is believed that he lost his balance and fell through the side of the structure. He fell a distance of 55 feet and landed on a hard driveway.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS DELEGATES ANNOUNCED

Republicans Will Meet Friday Night and the Democrats Saturday Afternoon; Those Who Were Elected

About 2 o'clock this afternoon, County Clerk Cook completed the canvass of the returns of the last primary showing the votes cast for the various candidates in the several assemblies districts as delegates to county conventions, of the Republican, Democratic, Social and Prohibition parties in this county.

A list of the successful delegates to the several political gatherings is herewith presented. The dates for the conventions are as follows:

Republican — Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the office of A. P. Leach in the Union Savings Bank building.

Democratic — Saturday, August 27, at 1:30 o'clock p. m.

Prohibitionist — August 28, at 2 p. m.

The Republican county convention was to have been held on the 19th instant, but the delegates, or those at least, who believed that they had been elected, as such met in the office of Chairman Leach and adjourned until Friday night, because there had been no canvass made of the delegates' tickets, which had to be certified to the conventions by the county clerk. The certification can now be made, but it will not be issued to each individual delegate, but to the several members on each delegation. In accordance with this arrangement, the Republican convention will assemble Friday night at the place designated.

The County Clerk, the Board of Supervisors and a corps of clerks are still canvassing the returns from the primaries of one week ago and expect to have completed the work some time this evening. But there will still remain one of the most important features in the job, and that is ascertaining the total number of votes cast for each and all the candidates. This, in the estimation of Mr. Cook, will require at least two days, and the clerks will at the same time have the assistance of adding machines. To expedite the work, these clerks will commence the adding tonight and continue it with relays of assistants until it is completed.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—The birthplace of Grover Cleveland, at Caldwell, N. J., is to be purchased by Democratic leaders of Caldwell and neighboring towns for use as a club house. A committee has been appointed to arrange terms of purchase and to raise the necessary funds.

OAKLAND EAGLES STORM HAYWARD

Almost 100 Pay Fraternal Visit and Hold Initiation Ceremony.

Oakland Eagles, to the number of almost 100, took a fraternal visit to Eden Aerie No. 1139. The delegation made the trip in special cars, and upon arrival at Hayward were met by the local aerie. A parade was formed, led by Oakland team eagles and the degree team, in full uniform, followed by the officers and members of both aeries. After traversing the principal streets Dana hall was reached, and the visitors were welcomed by President Andrews of Eden Aerie.

The ceremony of initiation was then performed on a class of new members by the officers of Oakland Aerie No. 7, assisted by a degree team. The exemplification of the ritual and the degree was put on in a manner never before witnessed by the members of Eden Aerie, and President Denny and Conductor O'Day were showered with flowers for their hearty appreciation of their efforts to advance the cause of Eaglesdom in this county.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and short addresses delivered by Eagles from Oakland, including State Treasurer Morgan Flanagan, Past President E. G. Russell, Jr., W. T. Vahlberg, President Charles W. Egan and others. Responses were made by the officers of Eden Aerie, who thanked the Oakland Eagles for their fraternal visit and assured them of the hearty appreciation of their efforts to advance the cause of Eaglesdom in this county.

Long Fast Kills Holy Roller Girl

Alice Griffin Dies in Los Angeles Hospital; Quickly Follows J. I. O'Neil.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—Alice Griffin, a 19-year-old girl, member of the Roller band of religious fanatics who voluntarily starved themselves through a mistaken religious idea, died today at the Los Angeles hospital. She had fasted a week ago from the lonely cabin where the party was found.

The second of the quartet to die from the effects of starvation, John Irving O'Neil of Patterson, N. J., the leader of the band, died last Saturday, the day after they were found. J. E. Butler, an aged man, and Mrs. Nellie Boyd, another member of the starvation band, are convalescent and are expected to recover. All of the party were found when they had been taken from the house on stretchers when found. They had taken no food for a month or more.

Wealthy Man Puts Up $25,000 in Bail

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Edward T. Rosenheimer, a wealthy resident of Pelham, in the Bronx, is held in $25,000 bail in connection with the killing, one week ago today, of Miss Grace Hough. An automobile, which was traveling at the rate of 70 miles an hour, it is claimed, struck a buggy in which the young woman was riding with friends in Pelham Parkway. Any bond offered must be in cash, which practically makes the bail $50,000.

Early in 1907 Rosenheimer's father was found murdered at the Rosos, the family home in Pelham Bay Park. The mystery of the death was never cleared. While investigating the case the policeman had frequent conversations with young Rosenheimer in an effort to get clues to the slayer. Soon after the slaying the young man lost a portion of a fortune, and now is worth several million dollars. He is secretary of the London Needle Company.

Rosenheimer now occupies a cell, having been unable to obtain bail.

Accused Assailant Fugitive From Justice

George E. Espie, charged in the criminal department of the superior court with criminally assaulting Margaret Silva, aged 15 years, is a fugitive from justice. When Judge Brown called his case this forenoon Espie, who was at liberty under a cash bond of $100, failed to appear. The court declared the bond forfeited, issued a bench warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive and increased bail in the case to $500 in the event of his re-arrest. The crime for which Espie was awaiting trial is alleged to have been committed on May 8.

ROSEATE REPORTS FROM FOREST FIRE ZONE

water below, where Miller and Weston were stationed.

"Suddenly we saw flames in the canyon below us," said Weston today. "They were coming up the canyon with the speed of an express train. We dashed for the creek bottom, threw ourselves into the water, about six inches deep, wet our blankets and drew them over our heads.

"Then we glanced up the canyon. The Italians had seen the flames coming, too. Some of them were running around wildly, trying to climb the banks of the canyon. They could not go up, because of the fire there. Most of them were gathered in the center.

Yelled to Them

"We yelled to them to join us where there was water, but the blast of the fire and the drought silenced them up. Most of them were gathered in a group. Several fell to their knees and we could make out some of their words as they shrieked.

"Then the lower flames licked up the canyon and we drew the wet blankets over our faces. We remained covered for fifteen minutes while the flames were licking above us. The fire dried our blankets almost in an instant and it grew so warm that we were afraid we were lost, too, for we feared that our clothing would catch fire. Then the fire died down where we were.

Blackened Heap

"It had burned itself out. We lifted our blankets and looked at the place where the Italians had been. We saw nothing but a heap of charred flesh there. The fire was racing up the mountain side.

"It was too much for us. We left without attempting to get any money for our work, tramped into Lake Point and caught a freight train for Spokane."

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 25.—Early reports from the fire districts today are of a decidedly rosy hue. At the forestry office the assurance is given that it is now quite safe for refugees to return to their homes along the Coeur d'Alene line of the Northern Pacific and on the Puget Sound. The odds of refugees from this city continues and tonight probably will find Missoula virtually deserted by those who, driven before the consuming flames earlier in the week, sought a haven of safety here. Difficultly, however, is encountered in reaching points further west on the Northern Pacific than Saltese and Alberton on the Puget Sound. The tracks beyond those places being impassable. The Northern Pacific reports the Feorlogia bridge-repaired and trains are ordered to run to Saltese today.

TROOPS NOT NEEDED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Two companies of troops which were requested by Superintendent Morgan of the Flathead Indian reservation for five fighting duty will not be required, owing to a fall of snow last night, according to the telegram received today at the Indian bureau. It is assumed that the fires in that section are under control.

Basing his judgment on telegrams from the Northwest, Associate Forester Potter expressed the opinion to War Department officials today that the crisis had passed.

REPORTS ALARMING.

SEATTLE, Aug. 25.—The forest fire which broke out in the Cedar river valley, twenty-five miles east of Seattle, last night, has increased in fury and is out of control, beyond control, D. F. Simons, chief of the North Western Lumber Company, has been informed. The fire is burning in the dense forest of the Cedar river valley, but reports received at the general office of the U. S. Forest Service today are a little more optimistic. It is believed that the fire will be able to keep the fire away from the company's property.

RAILWAY OPERATIONS.

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 25.—The Puget Sound railway report call attention to the fact that the line is now open for traffic. A general and sweeping call has been issued by the construction and operating departments in the Puget Sound division, and the work of the railroad is being moved to the west end of the Missoula division, where the fire damage is the least. Some of the officials make an estimate of the length of time that will elapse before through traffic will be resumed, but it will be about ten days.

Every available man that can be engaged in this vicinity is being sent out, and the old Milwaukee line has given assurance of assistance. Nearly 100 laborers and mechanics gathered here last night with a large number of tools and equipment to work on the railroad and to haul to be distributed among the camps being established near the fire zone.

TWO STATIONS BURNED.

Northern Pacific officials who have just arrived from the west through the fire zone report the loss of two stations on the Coeur d'Alene branch. They are DeBorgia and Lookout. Taft town was destroyed, but the company has no depot at that place. The station at Tuskor, on the main line, also fell before the flames.

DAMAGE $3,000,000.

Experts who have seen much of the damage wrought on the line of the Puget Sound estimate the loss to the company at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Last night the Northern Pacific cannot agree with the Puget Sound officials to handle the line freight from the latter road from Missoula to the coast. The old line is reported to have a freight blockade on the station divisions and is unable to handle more than a limited quantity of manifest freight.

The weather is clear and calm today with a very light breeze from the north-west.

CAMPERS HEMMED IN.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 25.—Word has been received here that the campers at Welch's Resort, fifteen miles west of Mount Hood, are hemmed in by fires. Up to Sunday about 200 families were camped there. Since then, however, many have returned home, and it is impossible to state at present how many are endangered.

WEATHER CHANGES.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 25.—The weather, which this morning was unseasonably cold for August, became much warmer at noon. An enormous crowd is on hand to see the beginning of the Frontier celebration and the number being swelled with the arrival of every train.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 25.

All records for cold August weather were broken at 35 degrees when the thermometer at the government observatory stood at 35 degrees above zero. The coldest previous August weather was on August 24, 1891, when 41 degrees was recorded.

Citizens Saves Village

After Strenuous Work

CHICO, Cal., Aug. 25.—After strenuous work on the part of citizens of Magalia Ridge, the forest fire which threatened the village of Magalia and the adjacent mining works has been brought under control. Another fire which is still raging along the ridge road, 20 miles east of Chico, has burned over a large area, destroying a number of miners' cabins and one farm house. Citizens are aiding the forest rangers to subdue this fire and the indications are that it will be checked today.

Mercury Drop Is

Due to Big Fires

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 25.—A drop in temperature of ten degrees, thirteen of which occurred in ten minutes, was the record established here yesterday between 1 o'clock and 8:40 p. m. At 1 o'clock the thermometer stood at 83 degrees. At 4 o'clock it was 73. At 5 o'clock a forty-two mile gale swept the city and a few minutes later the town was enveloped in a pall of smoke from the Idaho-Montana forest fires, 200 miles away. From then on the temperature fell steadily until it reached 41 degrees at 8:40 p. m.

According to United States Weather Forecaster Branderberg, the sudden drop in temperature was caused by the atmospheric disturbances resulting from the contact between the hot air from the fire-swept districts and the snow-covered mountains of the Continental divide.

Reports of remarkable changes in temperature comes from all parts of the state and neighboring territory. At 6 p. m. in Cheyenne, Wyo., the thermometer registered 78, the lowest reported on the weather map.

86 Forestry Rangers

Dead, Official Report

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 25.—The fact that about eighty-six men of the forest guard have perished has been definitely established by reports to the supervisor at Wallace, Idaho.

Forest Ranger Joe B. Helm and his party of five fire fighters at the headwaters of the St. Joe river, heard from and fifty-five men under Ranger Kootky, believed to be on Clark creek, are reported to be missing. It is positively estimated from telegraphic reports to the local government headquarters at Wallace that from 85 to 102. That eighty-six are dead is positively established.

A dispatch to Supervisor Weigle from Ranger Debbitt gives assurance of the safety of seventy-two of Ranger Kootky's men. It reports that Ranger Debbitt reports one of his men, Ranger Rock, and twenty-two of Debbitt's men dead on Sester creek. Weigle said last night that he did not believe the Sester victims were his men.

The smoke clouds over Spokane were heavier today than at any previous time since the forest fires began. The big fires in the Coeur d'Alene forest were being allowed to run riot, and the efforts of the forest service were directed to extricating the rangers imprisoned in the woods.

No news was received today that reduced last night's list of dead, which stood at 142. The company at Fort George Wright received a dispatch from Avery today saying that Corporal Baker and three privates of Company G, Twenty-fifth regiment (negro), were still missing.

Police and Socialists

Clash in Fresno

FRESNO, Aug. 25.—Two industrial workers of the World were placed under arrest here last night and charged with disturbing the peace. They were talking socialism in front of a saloon. W. E. Little, the leader, threatened to bring 200 workers to Fresno. This is the second case in which the police have had with the organization this year.

Mystery of Bodies May Be Cleared Up

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 25.—The mystery of the bodies that are being found in the St. Joe country of Idaho will probably be cleared up today, when the Milwaukee runs its first passenger train to Avery. One hundred and six men living in the St. Joe valley are said to be missing. Twenty-two bodies, supposed to be of the missing men, were found yesterday. Several days ago twenty bodies were discovered scattered over an area of a mile, and it was assumed that they were of the missing men. The bodies were found in a list of dead employees. Last night, however, he declared that they were not rangers.

Add the number of dead rangers, 74, the bodies found near Avery, 10, the Japanese who perished near Avery, and the various known dead in Washington, Idaho and Montana, and the total is 152. This without taking into account the rangers imprisoned on the headwaters of the St. Joe.

APPELLING LOSS OF LIFE.

The appalling loss of life among the forest employees has taken the heart out of the surviving foresters and an order has been issued not to risk life to save timber. The little fires are being extinguished but the great fire, to fight which might result in loss of more lives, will be allowed to burn themselves out, or they will burn until the rangers extinguish them.

IN COEUR D'ALENE.

In the Coeur d'Alene country the fires are exhausting the fuel and also they have done in the Pend d'Oreille valley. In the Clearwater country and in the thickest timber of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, the flames are as high as houses and active as ever.

No lumbermen or foresters will give an estimate of the timber losses. Even after the fires are out it will be difficult to reckon the cost. It is believed, however, that the present fires are the most expensive the United States has ever known. An expert railroad builder estimates the loss of the Milwaukee railroad at $2,500,000.

LARGE RELIEF FUND.

The Spokane Chamber of Commerce has begun the raising of a large relief fund. The chamber's representative, who has just returned from Idaho, believes that many ranchers have been burned to death and that many more, who have lost everything they possessed, need financial aid to carry them through the winter and re-establish them.

Among the first subscribers to the fund which is being collected at Wallace, were John W. Hammond and United States Senator Heyburn of Idaho.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

A special to the Spokesman-Review from Stites, Idaho, says: Forest Ranger C. H. Watson Wednesday night, into Major Penn's headquarters at Kootenai, Idaho, and from which every hair had been singed, and begged that a relief party be sent to rescue six men surrounded by fire in the Clearwater forest.

Watson and his party left the town Monday morning at daylight, and had been ever since fighting his way 32 miles to Kootenai.

He passed through burning forests for 25 miles and for 5 miles was compelled to ride through blazing trees from which masses of burning bark and limbs were constantly falling upon him and his horses. The smoke was so dense that the horses were dismounted at intervals and he flat on the ground in order to get a breath of air, and his mount was several times overcome with smoke and fell. Watson reports the six men exhausted and sick.

A party of 75 are surrounded 12 miles beyond Weatus Meadows, but are supposed to be safe. A party of 100 men surrounded in the mountains between Lolo Pass and the St. Maries and Major Penn has sent three guards to help them out.

Reports in the Clearwater reserve are hopeless and Major Penn has received instructions from the forestry headquarters at Missoula to evacuate the firefighters from the interior of the stricken reserve.

Save the lives of the men and let the timber go. The message said: "There are 25 large fires and many smaller ones on the reservation."

Suspend Logging Work

Is Governor's Order

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 25.—Governor Hay issued a proclamation last night urging that all logging operations and land clearing by means of fire be suspended for a period of twenty days, or until the grave danger now menacing the forests of Western Washington shall have been passed.

The proclamation at the urgent request of the officers of the Western Washington Forest Fire Association.

Lassen County Forest

Devastated by Blaze

REDDING, Aug. 25.—The fire south of Caswell has been subdued after twenty-five days of fighting by Forest Ranger Sanborn and all the assistants he could command. A fire west of Big Springs, near the Lassen county line, in the Lassen national forest an area four miles long and two miles wide has been devastated. The timber destroyed being of great value. This fire is reported to be about under control.

Another big fire is burning in the Big Bend of the Pitt river, on the north side of the stream. It is being fought by Ranger Ray Powers and a force of men. The fire at Hill, Siskiyou county, was brought under control today.

Forestry Students in

Western Fire Zone

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 25.—The receipt of details of the loss of life among the forest rangers of Montana and Idaho is adding to the anxiety of many families in this state, especially in those having sons who entered the forestry service, after graduating from the Yale Forest school. Most of this year's graduating class are in Pennsylvania, but it is known that a number who graduated last year went into the Northwest for service. The absence of Yale officials from town makes it difficult to get direct information through the media. H. H. Chapman of this city, an assistant professor in the forestry school, has sent word that he is at Swan Lake, Mont., fighting fire, but was in no danger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Floy Ludwigsen, the wife of Clarence B. Ludwigsen, a capitalist, has asked a $100 a month alimony from her husband, who she recently charged with treating her cruelly and ordering her from her apartment in the Fairmont Hotel. She declares in her original complaint that she had only two days of honeymoon, and that since that time her existence with her spouse has been almost unbearable.

She accuses him of threatening her life, telling her she was lucky he had not already killed her and of beseeching her to get a divorce. She says he spent two or three nights a week playing cards with his friends and failing to show up at his home.

William Rath brought suit for divorce this morning against Bertha Rath, whom he says has treated him cruelly, calling him a coward and a liar, and refusing to prepare his meals.

Mother of Mrs. Jennie Robbins

Reiterates Belief in Young

Woman's Innocence.

Mrs. Jean Vorris, the mother of Mrs. Jennie Robbins, the young nurse, who is said to have eloped with Dr. Julian A. Jackson, is firm in her belief that her daughter is innocent and will yet return.

"Jennie is away on a vacation," I am certain that she will come home," she said today. "I knew that she knew Dr. Jackson, but there was never anything in her manner to indicate that she and he were involved in a love affair."

"The argument that if my daughter has not accompanied the dentist to South America she must of necessity have read some of the stories of the elopement, which have been printed in the papers and have made some answer to the same seems to be ridiculous. She may, indeed, I think she is in the mountains and it is entirely possible that she does not get papers."

Mrs. Vorris declares she had a letter from her daughter a week ago addressed to her from Los Angeles.

So far as she learned, no word has come from Dr. Jackson on the matter, either, but Mrs. Jackson is not at home, having gone with her mother, 1235 stated, for a short stay on the latter's ranch, to escape the annoyance of curious parties seeking to talk to her.

MAN THROWS A FIT;

2 OTHERS ARE HURT

Five Persons Unable to Keep Epileptic

Patient in Ambulance; He Is

Finally Treated at Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Frank Barnes, a laborer, took an epileptic fit at Fourth and Mission streets this morning and was the innocent cause of the injury of two persons and was responsible for exhausting the entire staff at the Central Emergency Hospital. Steward and Thomas responded to the call with the ambulance, but Barnes had recovered. It was thought best to take him to the hospital, however, and just as the Steward had laid hold upon him he took a second spasm. Opening the medical hand, he endeavored to choke him and three policemen who were passing on a car ran toward him.

It took their combined aid, with that of St. Page of 1436 Mission street to put him in the ambulance and when the vehicle started on Page, Thomas and the policeman were holding the patient on a stretcher. They had proceeded but a few blocks when he succeeded in overpowering them all and was trying to escape.

Officer P. Smith, who was riding on the steps, opened the door, but the ambulance gave a lurch and he was thrown to the pavement. At the same time Barnes attacked Page and the policeman, but Barnes had recovered. Barnes was bound to the table and given treatment, after which Smith and Page had their injuries attended.

COUNTY EXHIBIT

FOR STATE FAIR

Many Rare Flowers Included in

the Shipment to State

Capital.

The choice specimens will be sent from Sacramento to Chicago, where they will be displayed at the Irrigation Congress to be held in that city in November.

The industrial display will include a complete exhibit from the California Cotton Mills, made from cotton grown in Imperial valley. A special temporary building, 60 by 80 feet, has been prepared for the Alameda county exhibit, which is larger than any other ever before, and will test the space to its capacity.

Twelve varieties of plums obtained from Luther Burbank will be included in the exhibit. There will also be a line of berries.

The members of the Alameda County Exposition committee are Wilbur Walker, Col. Theodore Gier and Bernard Miller.

Sheriff J. F. Smith of Sonoma county came to this city today to serve subpoenas upon Henry F. Starbuck and Mrs. Starbuck for the inquest to be held over the murdered Kendall family tomorrow at Santa Rosa. Smith will also serve papers upon Mrs. Jeanette Thompson of 2531 Broderick street, San Francisco.

When Starbuck was interviewed today, he declared that he was entirely willing to testify at the inquest and to do all in his power to aid the authorities in their investigation. Mrs. Starbuck is out of town today but it is presumed that she will be present at the inquest.

Sheriff Smith discussed the latest features of the case with Captain of Detectives Petersen, but could throw no new light upon the mystery surrounding the tragedy. The inquest tomorrow will be held in the rooms of the Sonoma county supervisors at Santa Rosa. It is the intention of the authorities to hear only enough evidence about the case to meet the requirements of the law.

Governor Gillett's Extra Session Call

Governor Gillett has issued a call convening the State Legislature in special session on September 6 for the purpose of passing acts submitting constitutional amendments to be acted upon by the people at the next general election providing for a State subsidy of $5,000,000 toward the Panama-Pacific International Exposition fund and the exemption of the exposition from all taxes, license fees and charges; also authorizing the city and county of San Francisco to amend its charter by a vote of its electors at either a special or general election for special exposition purposes without submitting such amendments to the Legislature for ratification and approval. The action of the Governor will be generally commended, particularly when considered in the light of the fact that the exposition company has agreed to bear the expense of the special session.

The last-named proposition in the call provides for the assumption by San Francisco of a bonded indebtedness of $5,000,000 to be turned over to the exposition company to be applied to the purposes of the exposition fund; authorizing the use of that section of Golden Gate Park lying west of the line of Twentieth avenue and placing it under the temporary control of the exposition corporation in conjunction with such unused public school lands as are located westerly of the same avenue, and the temporary opening and closing and the use of all streets within the same area as parts of the exposition site.

If the Legislature takes favorable action on these various measures and the State bonding proposition is approved by the people at the general election in November, both of which will doubtless happen, it will put San Francisco's claim to be selected by Congress and proclaimed by the President as the Panama-Pacific International Exposition city of 1915 outside of the domain of doubt. If the authority is given the people of San Francisco to incur a special indebtedness of $5,000,000 they will unquestionably shoulder the burden courageously and without hesitation, inspired by an unwavering faith that it will, in due season, as the result of the exposition, be returned with ample interest.

With the $7,000,000 fund, nearly all of which has already been subscribed by its citizens, the carrying out of the various measures incorporated in the Governor's legislative call, the exposition company will have at its command $17,000,000 to develop the enterprise. This is a larger sum of money than has ever been raised before for any world's fair in the country by any city or state, and that without asking the general government to contribute a penny toward the fund.

It is of general interest to the State that the proposed $5,000,000 subsidy should be granted, for the State at large will share in the benefit which will accrue from the holding of the exposition celebrating the opening of the Panama canal within its borders. Indeed the holding of the exposition in San Francisco will give the State an enormously greater prestige abroad than it now possesses. With a fund of $17,000,000 at the disposal of the San Francisco Exposition Company New Orleans will, of course, have no alternative save to retire from the competition for congressional sanction to the President to officially invite the nations of the earth to participate in the world's fair at San Francisco to commemorate the greatest engineering achievement of modern times and the creation of a new bond of union between the two greatest oceans on the surface of the globe.

So long as the Oakland treasury was receiving a monthly fee of $400 from Berkeley for the privilege of having its garbage carried off to sea in the garbage boat Signal which holds the Oakland garbage contract, it seems to have been only a matter of fairness that the garbage contractor should receive a share of the money contributed by the college town for the service rendered. An equal division of the Berkeley fee between the city and the contractor, to which the Board of Public Works has assented, is equitable. Oakland now gets $200 per month for hauling Berkeley's garbage over its public streets and the use of the garbage loading plant at the foot of Broadway and the owner of the garbage boat receives the same amount for carrying it outside the Heads. The only thing to be surprised at in the whole transaction is that the garbage contractor did not put in a claim for extra compensation earlier.

The Situation in New York.

By reproving Vice-President Sherman for defeating former President Roosevelt for temporary chairman of the New York State convention President Taft has soothed the wounded pride of the sulking Achilles and brought him to battle in the coming campaign, but it is not so certain that he has contributed to party harmony and success. Mr. Roosevelt emerges from his tent at Oyster Bay breathing defiance to his enemies in the Republican party. From the stump he is uttering platitudes and axiomatic truths in such a tone and such a connection as carries the implication, or rather, the accusation, that his enemies are degenerate and corrupt, and that their opposition to him is prompted by the malefactor's fear of an honest man.

Taking his cue from these utterances Lloyd C. Griscom, Mr. Roosevelt's Ambassador to Italy, says the organization leaders in the Empire State must go. Thus Mr. Roosevelt has not been placated, but is out in the thick of the factional contention that is rending the Republican party asunder in various States.

Whether the organization leaders fight or submit to extermination and elimination, the resentments provoked will be deep and bitter. Mr. Roosevelt has been nursing his wrath ever since the New York Legislature refused to enact a direct primary law at his behest. Governor Hughes had tried in vain to get the bill through. President Taft also urged the passage of the bill without avail.

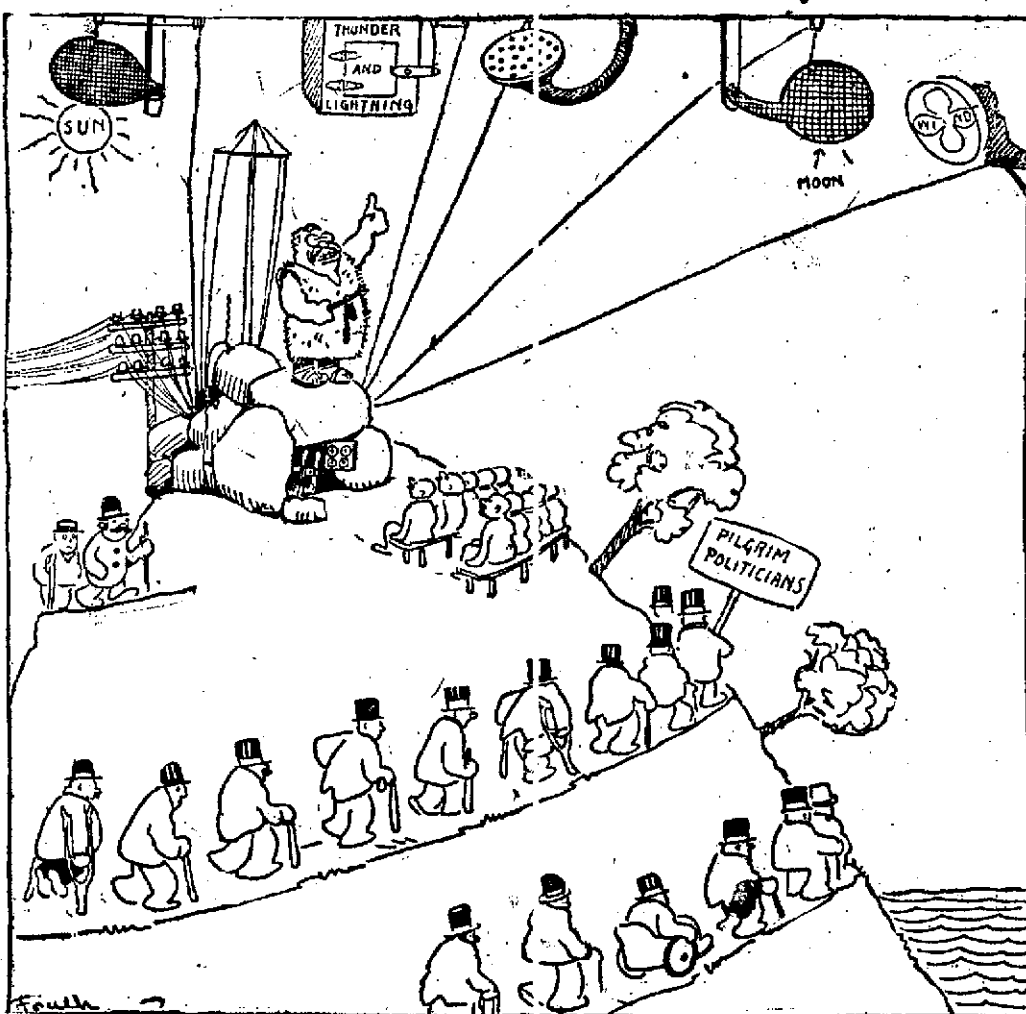

Then the mighty hunter from Africa was called on. He sent out a telegram that was virtually an order for the Legislature to do as Governor Hughes directed. The Legislature did not do it.

Next came the attempt to force Mr. Roosevelt upon the Republican convention as temporary chairman. Mr. Griscom was the spokesman for the offended Achilles in this attempt, an attempt that was foiled only because Vice-President Sherman threw himself in the breach and took the chairmanship himself.

President Taft has denied with acerbity that he was privy to the election of Sherman or in sympathy with his election to the chairmanship. Mr. Griscom, the Patroclus of the sulking Achilles at Oyster Bay, was the intermediary who brought out this denial from the President. Now Mr. Griscom says the organization leaders must go. They have committed lese majeste.

But the situation in New York, so far as the Republican party is concerned, is not mended—indeed, it seems worse than before. Faction fighting rages all over the State. Mr. Roosevelt's wounded feelings, instead of being soothed by the President's letter, have been fired to a thirst for revenge. His grievance is that he was jobbed in the State committee, which may or may not be true. At this distance it is difficult to tell where the truth of the matter lies, but no telescope is required to bring in view the discordant wrangle now raging in the Empire State, a wrangle that is daily making Republican success more difficult. The party is losing its coherency and its community of purpose. The issue now seems to be whether Mr. Roosevelt shall or shall not be the Republican party.

ROOSEVELT AT BUFFALO TODAY

Why the Forests Are on Fire.

The forest fires now raging in various sections of the mountain region give a tragic illustration of the truth of the old maxim that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Aside from the actual loss caused by the fires, the money expended in extinguishing them would have made them impossible. A small part of properly expended money would have insured adequate protection on from such destructive holocausts as are now laying waste vast areas in the forest regions of the mountains. No class is more deeply interested in forest protection than the lumbermen, but no class is more careless in handling fire or more indifferent to the most ordinary methods of protection. Around the mills and lumber camps practically nothing is done to prevent fires being set in the forests. One is astonished after visiting the camps and mills that fires are not more frequent. Only lucky chance seems to protect the forests and those who work in them from fiery ruin. The individual, whether he be laborer or property-owner, will not take the most ordinary precautions against fire, and in consequence the mountain region is periodically devastated by conflagrations which lay waste to thousands of square miles and destroy millions of dollars worth of timber and other property.

The condition of Webster street approaches a public outrage. It is a grave reproach to the street department that the thoroughfare should be permitted to remain for months in its present dismantled condition. Webster street was torn up at the beginning of the year and is still torn up. The public is being treated as if they had no rights in the matter and are not to be considered when some personal convenience is to be served. The condition of the street is a reproach to the municipal authorities, a grave reproach, and if it is not improved without further delay there is likely to be an outburst of public indignation that will make itself unpleasantly felt at the city hall.

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL, ACTING MAYOR OF NEW YORK

Within an hour after Mayor Gaynor had been struck down by an assassin's bullet it is safe to say that at least half the men in New York who give any attention to public affairs and their management had thought of John Purroy Mitchel, the young president of the board of aldermen, who, under the charter, would succeed to the first office of the city if the mayor's wound should result fatally. And it is equally safe to say that with most of those who thought of him it was a source of satisfaction and assurance that the man in second place was of proved character and ability. Mr. Mitchel was 28 years old, and had been practicing law on his own account for five years, when the making of his public record began. It was in the family to study law, and young Mitchel had determined on that before he went to Columbia. Consequently when he came to the elective courses in his junior year he turned aside from the distinctive studies of the arts and chose those which he believed would help him in his later career.

He went in for political science, the science of government, political history and that sort of thing. He was a Democrat by inheritance and tradition, as well as by belief. But he is of the kind of Democrats who can give a reason for their faith, and who understand the difference between the systems of Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton. Most men nowadays have either forgotten or never knew that there was any difference. Mr. Mitchel was graduated from the law school and went at the practice of his profession.

Germany's Working People.
The prosperity of the working people of Germany is improving, according to the income tax returns for the present year as compared with fourteen years ago. These returns show that the total income of all persons whose annual income is less than $150 has increased from $165,000,000 in 1895 to $230,000,000 in 1909. This improvement is also manifested by the growth of deposits in the savings banks, which amounted to $225,000,000 in 1895 and to $600,000,000 at the end of 1909. The increase in the income of the working class and of sums to the credit of depositors in the savings banks is largely due, the Borsen Courier says, to the circumstance that higher wages are now paid in almost every department of life.

A Banished Princess.
Princess Charlotte of Sax-Meiningen, who has just celebrated her fiftieth birthday, is the most accomplished of the Empress Frederick's daughters and in her younger days was pronounced by many to be the best-looking of Queen Victoria's numerous descendants. She was at one time the life and soul of the German court, but in 1884 she had the misfortune to offend her imperial brother. As a consequence her husband was placed in command of the troops at Breslau, and Princess Charlotte was virtually banished from Berlin. For over fourteen years he was condemned to live in Breslau, where the only other royal resident was Princess Wilhelmina of Wurtemberg, who married a doctor and has become a socialist. Princess Charlotte and her husband now live at Meiningen, which, if not so attractive a residence as Berlin, is certainly preferable to Breslau.

A Mysterious Official.
John Paget Mellor, King's Proctor, is said to be the most mysterious official in England. He gets a salary of $10,000, and has an assistant proctor at $5000 and a staff of clerks to help him. The King's proctor is supposed to inquire into every undefended divorce suit, and for this purpose he can call on the detective staff of Scotland Yard. His activities add much to the difficulties of divorce in the kingdom, though the great expense of securing a decree is perhaps even a greater obstacle.

CHILDREN AND CITY

It is plain that children in the city, in many cases, do not have a fair chance. The fact is brought home to those who study the situation time and time again by facts which get into the possession of the reporters, and so into the news columns.

Take the case of Anna Roman, 13 years old, of St. Louis. Little Anna Roman is one of several children who have been having a hard time of it. The father is in New York and cannot contribute to their support. The mother is not robust. There are children younger than Anna—so much younger, in fact, that the mother cannot "work out," because she must look after her brood at home.

And so Anna went to work. She got a place in a skirt factory, and very probably she dreamed dreams of how she would be able to help her mother, and bring a cheerier atmosphere into the place they all called home. And here the difficulty arose. A true-ant officer discovered the family, and saw that it needed looking after. He went to a benevolent organization and completed arrangements for the removal of the family back to New York, where the father is.

And so Anna, whose career as a worker had just begun, had to give up all her prospects and return to the family group. It is true that she is under age, and that she cannot lawfully be employed in a skirt factory; and it is also interesting to note that she was working some nine hours a day, and that for the three days a day, was taken from her task and prevented from fulfilling the destiny which must inevitably have awaited her.

Can we have any doubt that children in the city do not have a fair chance.—St. Louis Times.

ON THE BIG FELLOWS

Keen theologian though he is, Prebendary Webb-Peploe is not without a strong vein of humor. There is a story told of how at a church congress he once was introduced to a city stockbroker, who began to enlarge upon his own business capabilities and to deplore the lack of initiative in the modern British youth.

"Why," he said, "when I landed in this country I was without a cent in my pockets." "Yes," said Mr. Webb-Peploe, "but there were other pockets."—M. A. P.

A good story is told of two great Irishmen, the late Archbishop Plunkett and Father Healy, the well-known parish priest of Bray. Making their way together to Bray Railroad station one morning, the priest urged that they should hurry; but the prelate's appeal to his wily companion convinced him that they had ample time. They arrived to see the train for Dublin disappearing. The Archbishop's apologies were feeble. He pleaded that he always had unshakable faith in his watch. "My dear Lord Plunkett," was Father Healy's rejoinder, "faith won't do without the good works."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Former Governor Folk of Missouri, at the Missouri Society's dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria, said of corruption: "The existence of corruption is the fault of the people. The populace instead of making a real effort to rid itself of corruption once for all, wriggles easily and does nothing."

"In fact, the populace adopts the dangerous laissez-faire policy of the boy with the stomach ache."

"I regret that your excellency does not see your way to recognize the justness of the claims which I have had the honor to present. I have now to say, on behalf of Her Britannic Majesty's government, that unless your excellency yields on all points which I have named it will be my painful duty to act on the second half of my instructions."

Under this vague and significant threat the President yielded at once.—Tit-Bits.

Frank K. Krauth, who is now deputy county clerk, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the position of county clerk. For the office of sheriff, the aspirants are W. B. Hale, the incumbent; Amos Roberts, Webb N. Pearce, V. H. Hussey and Louis Schaffer of Livermore. Under Sheriff Harlow, who knows more about conducting the office than any person in this state, says that he will not try for the first place until two years from now.

Mrs. Link, the old lady arrested last week on suspicion of insanity, still occupies a cell in the city prison. It is stated that there is a sum of money belonging to her that she cannot get control of, and this fact is the cause of her mental disturbance.

A few days ago R. B. Tappan, the attorney of Alameda, commenced an action in this county to quiet title to certain lands in the city on the other side of the estuary. In his pleadings he put in the names of a number of fictitious defendants, among them being Benedict Arnold and H. H. Markham. Mr. Tappan now finds that the judge worked the wrong way. He was a delegate to the Republican State convention and voted for Morrow. He is, therefore, accused of improper motives in mentioning the name of Benedict Arnold with H. H. Markham.

Mr. Tappan says that he bears no ill will to Mr. Markham and that he intended the matter simply as a joke. City Engineer Morgan will turn over tonight to the Board of Public Works the specifications for the dredging at the Webster street wharf.

The P. I. E. Club is the name of a novel organization recently organized in East Oakland. The officers are: A. Meese, president; G. 'WHY ALL THIS HYSTERIA?'
ASKS CABINET OFFICER

Says He Has Done As Much for Conservation As Any Other Man.

(By RICHARD A. BALLINGER, Secretary of the Interior in President Taft's Cabinet.)

Out of the multitude of accusations lodged against me by political conspirators, in not one instance have my actions been able to produce any facts in support of their assertions, and, as the President has expressed it, "they contained more shades of suspicion." In the last analysis, they are the product of the term accusation or as even legitimate criticism.

It may be said there is a difference in method of administration between my conduct of the Interior Department and that of my predecessor. Whatever difference may be discovered will probably be found in the fact that in the administration of the public domain, I have felt the necessity of having the authority of congress, with which the constitution has lodged sole power to prescribe the law regulating the public domain.

In the other case any action when considered desirable was deemed authorized, unless there was some statutory prohibition against its exercise. This doctrine is too absurd to warrant serious attention. It may appear to the "trust-buster" performer, but not to anyone grounded in the principles of our institutions.

EXPLAINS POSITION.

The offense that I appear to have been guilty of is in not being a lawless conservator. The attitude that has been pursued throughout this country in behalf of conservation by its extreme advocates has confused rather than elucidated and simplified the question. If conservation does not mean frugality and economy in the use of all things which make for the happiness of man, it means nothing, and we all know what frugality and economy means in their application to life in its various phases.

This, however, is but one of the essential virtues required of men in their daily life. Cleanliness, physical vigor, morality, energy, religion, patriotism and many other qualities are equally essential to the progress and happiness of the race.
What, then, is there in conservation that can be made a political issue, or that, under a national issue, and more than it always has been an issue, just as patriotism, civic virtue and righteousness have always been issues? What is there about it that calls for excitement, bitterness of spirit, or contention?
Nothing! No one who holds the future wellfare of his country dear will concede
the right to waste our natural resources, but what is wasting? There is no waste of our resources can be put that does not result in some waste. The best definition of the conservative use of natural resources, in my opinion, is that given by Dr. Huxley in the geological survey, as "utilization, with the maximum efficiency and minimum waste."

DONE AS MUCH AS ANY MAN.

I flatter myself that I have done as much to contribute to the rational conservation of the public domain as anyone, particularly in administration of extensive law, as well as in securing constructive legislation, consistent with the best use of our remaining resources in the national domain, and this is not a distinction.

Secretary Ballinger's Policies Use Every Acre for Homesteads

In view of the fact that the States own and control the water necessary for development, it would seem that the most feasible and practicable method for the proper development of water power would be to transfer these sites to the State.

I believe in that character of conservation and development which will permit of development and this may be obtained under rational laws without doing violence to any just views on conservation.

Every acre of our public lands that can be devoted to homesteads, every acre that can be feasibly irrigated and brought under intensive cultivation will be required to feed our own people.

I am opposed to withholding of any lands in the public domain, reserved or unreserved.

All questions of policy, all criticisms relating to the disposition of public lands should be referred to and controlled by Congress.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR R. A. BALLINGER

As Secretary of the Interior, working
in entire accord with the President and Congress, we have secured more constructive legislation for the protection of the public domain than for many years
past, as is illustrated in the withdrawal act, the act segregating the surface from coal deposits, and the increased appropriations for the survey of the public domain.

I have also, in the face of severe opposition, restricted the activities of the reclamation service to the completion of existing projects and of securing sufficient revenues through better assessment of lands to complete those projects already undertaken, some thirty in number, mainly in the interest of the settler from whom water has been long withheld.

The country has been brought to a realization of these necessities and congress, in its authorization of the issuance
of the twenty millions in certificates, created a board of army engineers, through the appointment of the President, for
the careful inspection of existing projects
to determine the extent of their feasibility
and worthiness.

I have not made use of advertising methods, but am seeking to bring about material and useful accomplishments in the way of legal authorization to save the remainder of our public resources from misuse, misappropriation and waste.

WORKED WITH PRESIDENT.

As Secretary of the Interior, working
in entire accord with the President and
Congress, we have secured more constructive legislation for the protection of
the public domain than for many years
past, as is illustrated in the withdrawal
act, the act segregating the surface from
coal deposits, and the increased appropriations for the survey of the public domain.

I have also, in the face of severe opposition, restricted the activities of the
reclamation service to the completion of
existing projects and of securing sufficient revenues through better assessment of lands to complete those projects
already undertaken, some thirty in number, mainly in the interest of the settler
from whom water has been long withheld.

The country has been brought to a realization of these necessities and congress, in its authorization of the issuance
of the twenty millions in certificates, created a board of army engineers, through
the appointment of the President, for
the careful inspection of existing projects
to determine the extent of their feasibility
and worthiness.

DOGS PLAY IN FIRE DRAMA

Canine Hose Captain Rescues
Miss Poodle From Burning Cottage.

Paula Peters, the only woman animal trainer in the world, with her famous German dog and monkey circus, is one of the imported features this season at the Barnum and Bailey. The show is on Earth. In Miss Peters' company is a baboon that is a skillful rider. His mount is a shaggy Russian sheep-dog.
She gives a performance that lasts for an hour and ends with a little animal drama in which dogs and monkeys are the only actors.

The play finishes with a fire scene. The villain masquerades, out of hatred, and sets fire to the hero's home. A alarm is sent in. The fire company, composed of dogs, with a miniature but complete set of fighting equipment, responds. The captain of the brigade mounts a ladder and rescues a poodle from the second story of the cottage. The villain is thus: Into all by an ape policeman, and all ends happily.

There are many novel trained animal features with the Barnum and Bailey circus. There is a brass band of elephants, a company of equestrian juggling seals, Beras's comedy horse circus, a troupe of wonderful Hungarian horses and a baroque full of eddy red roosters, geese and pigs. Jupiter, the bullion horse, belongs near the top of the list.
He rides to the dome of the tent on a platform attached by chains to an advanced horse, and descends amid a shower of fireworks.

Of all animals known to creation, Charlie the First, a chimpanzee, is the most remarkable. He is on y an animal, but his name justly belongs on the list with those of the men and women of the show, for he is a greater performer than any of them when it comes to the acrobatic art of riding a bicycle. This strange creature, while heading the circus, has skipped the African equator in about ten years ago. Nothing is known of his antecedents except that they were chimpanzees. Dr. Buchanan, the English naturalist, while heading an expedition in the African forest, came upon the animal and adopted it because of its friendliness and also because of the fact that it insisted upon following the expedition.

Finally, an evening in the docto-placed the chimpanzee with the skipper of a tramp sailing vessel. There it remained for sixteen months. It soon became a handy helper on the deck when ports were made, as it could hold on in and from the shore. Three weeks after going aboard the vessel it learned to wash deck. Later it astonished the cooks in the galley by putting on an apron.
After that episode it was allowed to wash
the dishes, a task it took to it without coaching.

When Dr. Buchanan returned to England he took the animal with him for further development. When the history of Charlie the First reads like a miracle. Scientists from all over Europe examined him. Even the king of England, the emperor of Germany and Alfonso of Spain called for him before he left. There was but one opinion and that was that Charlie the First was either the missing link or a mistake of nature.
When the animal came to the notice of the London agents of the circus,
Dr. Buchanan was induced to bring it to America and exhibit it with the Barnum and Bailey circus. It will be seen in Oakland at Forty-second and San Pablo
Sunday and Monday, September 4 and 5, in a large circus act which will show has anything of its kind been. In his particular line Charlie the First is the greatest circus performer ever seen in America.

DESERTS HUSBAND TO JOIN CHORUS

She Is Now "Elevating" Stage and Court Gives Him Freedom.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—The lure of the stage was at the bottom of the troubles of George W. and Rita V. Thomas, culminating in Judge Cole's divorce court. The husband was given his decree on Thursday morning. The wife, under the name of Rita Victoria, is elevating the stage, somewhere, but neither Thomas nor his attorney has been able to locate the particular company where she is starting.

The couple were married in San Diego in September 1901 and in July 1909, his wife left Thomas, going to San Bernardino where she wrote him that she was about to leave for San Francisco and asking him to send her belongings (barring the powder box which he asked him to throw away) to her there in care of the Hot. Stewart. The letter, dated August 1, 1909, was put in as follows:

"After considering everything very thoroughly my heart tells me that I do not love you and as you wish me to give up my position I think it would be best for me to have an understanding that it is all over between us. If I call you I might consider giving up the stage but after thinking very seriously of the matter in regard to you I find that I have no love for you, and I do not think I ever did. Knowing that you would not want a wife who did not love you, I thought it would be better to let you know that you can take such action as you please."

Thomas told the court how he had tried to dissuade his wife from going on the stage. When last heard from, Mrs. Thomas was in Seattle, about to go East to join the chorus of one of the numerous Broadway successes in the line of comic opera.

Baumgarten Scored for Inducing Crime

Morris Baumgarten, who was convicted of having violated the city ordinance against purchasing junk from minors, was scored severely by Prosecuting Attorney William J. Hennessy in the police court yesterday before he received his sentence. Hennessy declared that Baumgarten was practicing guile, using children to steal, although it could not be proved that he had actually induced the boys from whom he purchased stolen goods to commit theft. Baumgarten gave as his defense the statement that he had threatened to horsewhip any boy who sold him stolen goods. He was sentenced by Judge Quinn, sitting for Judge Samuels, to ten days in the city prison or a fine of $50.

CHICAGO TO SEE NIGHT BASEBALL

Night Changed Into Day at the New American League Grounds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Changing night into day was enacted last night at the New American League baseball grounds and proved a unique demonstration. Electricians fairly swarmed around the park throughout the evening, and ten powerful lights, representing 2,000,000 candle power, were turned on, with the result that night became as day under their powerful glare.

The full forces of the lighting plant was not turned on, owing to the incompleteness of the apparatus, only half of the twenty lamps being in service. The lamps are operated in pairs. Ten of them are stationed on the roof of the new park, while a like number are operated from the ground.

The first actual attempt to put the lighting plant to practical use will be made Thursday night, when the Chicago Lacrosse League will open its season with

MISTAKE CAUSED KENDALL TROUBLE

The Superintendent of Police Blames Misunderstanding for Denial of Protection.

That the complaint of A. Kendall of the Pacific Coast Lumber Company to the effect that he had been denied police protection was caused through a misunderstanding, was the statement of Superintendent of Police Wilson yesterday morning to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Also that as soon as the correction had been made officers were assigned to the mill.

Four patrolmen were raised from probation to regular standing in the department as follows: J. H. Carter, J. A. Riley, W. H. Jordan and J. L. Chamberlain.

The Illinois Athletic Club team. Should the experiment prove successful, the first baseball match will be played Saturday night.

"THIRD DEGREE" PORTRAYED IN CLEVER ORPHEUM SKETCH

MISS BERTHA SEIFERT at the Oakland Orpheum.

So much has been said about the "third degree" in recent years that there is more or less curiosity in regard to its workings. While a familiarity with the methods now in use by the police is not desired by the ordinary citizen, still there is a widespread interest in the process which has proved so formidable to the criminal. There is a vague idea that it is a sort of Spanish Inquisition brought down to date, wherein hypnosis and other more terrible means are used to force a confession from the prisoner. In their sketch, "The Police Inspector," Clay M. Greene and Harrison Armstrong have endeavored to picture in its true guise one of the most effective methods now used by the police for extracting information from suspects. The real "third degree" is a battle of wills, pitting up of evidence, manufactured or otherwise, which eventually batters down the criminal's defensive silence. A splendid case is presented "The Police Inspector" at the Orpheum this week and crowded houses have attested to the interest felt by the public at large in a matter that is important to all classes. Scott Higgins, who is presenting an excellent characterization of the inspector, is favorably known here through his fine work as Captain Williams in "Paid in Full," John J. Davis, whose delineation of that unique type, the rich criminal, shows him as an actor of intellect, will be remembered here as "Wainwright," the financier, in "The Man of the Hour," and some years ago in several of Hoyt's plays.

Williams, who plays the scrubman, is another California favorite. Josie Heather, the winsome English comedienne, who has smiled and sung her way into the hearts of Orpheum audiences, continues to make new friends at every performance. Her new song, "Nosey Rosey," has hit. She is as dainty a type of singer as has ever been seen here and, what is more, she does not rely on suggestive words to win approval.

Jimmie Lucas' eccentric dancing and his recitation of the Light Brigade gets a big hand every day. He and his dainty little dancing mate, Miss Josephine Fields, make an attractive couple. Eight plump little "broilers" contribute pleasing splendor to the act.

Joe Anger's descriptions of the trials and tribulations of the soldier would make a galling task smile. His broken German is so good that one would imagine he could talk no other way, but the fact is that, although of German descent, Mr. Anger cannot speak one word of German. Kopp, Melhiser and King, the banjoist, singer and pianist, are repeating the hit they made at their first appearance here last year. Their initial bow on the Orpheum circuit was made in Oakland and their immediate triumph here assured the long engagement that has taken them all over the United States. In New York they scored a tremendous hit.

"Mag Haggerty, M. D.," as presented by Ryan and Richfield in a cream from start to finish. This is probably one of the funniest of the series of Haggerty sketches and shows Mag at dying osteopathy and applying it to her father. The situations that result have to be seen to be appreciated.

Granville and Rogers, with their novel singing and dancing act, and the Four Fords, America's best dog dancers, round out an evening well as presented by the Orpheum.

The motion pictures appear with particular interest to many this week. They are showing the competitive drill corps and parade of the different legions of Elks during their recent grand lodge convention at Detroit. The local legions of Elks will attend the Orpheum Friday evening.

HAMMONDS EXPECT MILLIONS FOR GUN

Automobile Machine Weapon Said to Have Attracted Uncle Sam.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—That John Hays Hammond and his son, Harris, are associated with Henry C. Wade in the promotion of an automobile machine gun, which they expect to sell to the United States government for $25,000,000, was divulged in the suit pending in Supreme Judge Brady's court yesterday, which was brought by Arthur R. Rose to recover $8000 from Henry C. Wade. The Hammonds and Arthur Rose, who was let into the company by Wade because he claimed to be able to interest Hammond.

Arthur Rose declares in his complaint that he had interested a number of persons who said they would buy if the demonstration was satisfactory and they witnessed the demonstration at Staten Island, but Wade countermanded the demonstration.

It is asserted that by calling off the demonstration Rose says "Wade prevented the sale of stock and caused him to lose $5000 in profits on the transaction."

Steel Trust Strike Finally Declared Off

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—The strike of 15,000 tin and sheet steel workers in the United States Steel corporation, which has been on since July 1, 1909, was yesterday officially declared off by President McAdams and other members of the amalgamated board. It has been probably the most disastrous strike, from a workman's standpoint, since the famousest walkout. More than $1,000,000 has been lost by the workmen in wages.

They Have a Definite Purpose.

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder troubles. Mrs. Rose Gleser, Terre Haute, Ind., tells the result of her case: "After suffering for many years from a serious case kidney trouble and spending much money for so-called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and about to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." Sold by Wishart's Drug Store.

'Time's Flight Turned Backward' SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss
COUNTY OF MONROE }
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

Sworn to before me this 25th day of July, 1919.

PINK AND GREEN WEDDING.

The marriage of Ivy Masterson and Miss Aeline Shafeloff was solemnized last night at the family home, in the presence of a few intimate friends and the members of the immediate family. Pink blossoms were used throughout the ceremony.

The maid of honor, Miss Florence Shafeloff, wore a gown of pink chiffon and carried pink roses, while the bride was crowned in an exquisite embroidered chiffon over heavy white satin, with which she wore the bridal veil, which was confined with a wreath of orange blossoms. Girl With Own Hands Chokes Dog to Death

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Pounded upon today by a 50-pound vicious dog, bitten and torn on the left arm from his teeth, 18-year-old Emma L. Barbour choked him to death. When two big negroes, frightened at the cry of "mad dog," were finally induced to approach the scene ten minutes later they were too late to help.

The girl, a member of a well-known Washington family, was living on a country place near Brookland, D. C. While she was feeding the chickens early in the morning a strange dog came into the house pasture, a corner of which was the chicken house. The girl closed the gate with the dog inside. She then ran for the house, but the dog, with blood running from his mouth, began to snap at her heels. She turned around and the animal leaped for her throat. Grappling the dog by the nape of the neck, she threw him from her, and followed up the attack by grasping him by the throat before he could arise.

Although the girl says she saw no evidence of foaming at the mouth, the men state positively that the blood running from the dog's jaws was thickened with foam. The girl's arm was cauterized, and if rabies is discovered in the dog she will undergo the Pasteur treatment at the laboratory of the Public Health Marine Hospital Service.

TOM LAWSON'S SON IN RACE WITH CALIFORNIAN FOR LOVE OF A BEAUTY

Scion of "Frenzied Finance" House Seeks Hand of Denver Society Belle, and Best Friends Rival

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 25.—Starting another lap in the long-distance courtship of Miss Marjorie Campbell, a beautiful society belle of Denver, Douglas Lawson, son of Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, yesterday morning hurriedly left Seattle in a fast train flight to meet the fair Western maid and her mother in Portland. Opposing the son of the Eastern millionaire is E. D. Berl of San Francisco. The young men are firm friends in everything but their competition for the affections of Miss Campbell. There they are believe and barbed accusations of the old crowd. "Everything is fair in love and war," says Lawson, who is due back in college. "I don't care," says Berl, "I want the young man to complete his course at Harvard. The imperative call, it is said, has been waited across the rolling prairies and majestic mountains from dear old Boston to Seattle instructing the youthful scion of the Lawson millions to come home, Young Douglas, his ham and eggs, and in very much the same building manner characterized his father in his assault upon intrenched millions in "Frenzied Finance," has manifested a will of his own. He is "ganging his own way," and at this particular time the path leads in the butterfly chase after the beautiful girl who captured his heart when they met on a touring trip to Alaska.

Young Berl, opportunist from the Golden State, entered the love game in Alaska at the same time that Lawson was smitten. The young man toured Alaska together and met Miss Campbell at the same time. I was a case of love at first sight on both sides.

Girl Prisoner and Chivalry Start Feud

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—The chivalry of a young engineer is declared to be at the bottom of the trouble between the Cubans and American residents of the Isle of Pines. Frank Giltner, a graduate of Cornell University, who has made a determined fight to secure the release of a young American girl who has been held prisoner on the island for years, has angered the natives as a result of his stand to protect the defenseless woman.

The story of Giltner's chivalrous efforts in behalf of persecuted femininity reads like a romance and is told here by Corporal W. C. Emerich of this city, who spent three years on the Isle of Pines. Last Sunday five Americans were arrested on the island. They were charged with homicide and Giltner was one of the trouble dates since 1906, when he and Giltner were among a detail that went to liberate an American girl then in prisoned two years and who is still imprisoned. Giltner, Emerich says, has sworn to liberate the girl and has whipped several Cuban officers in her behalf.

Woman Turned Down at Polls

SAN JOSE, Aug. 25.—Saratoaga by an election yesterday became a sanitary district, including 160 acres of land, and thereby hangs a tale. Miss M. V. Beaton, Kate Beaton, a local banker, and woman of considerable means, was refused a vote at the election. She owns three acres of land in the heart of the proposed district, fifteen acres of which is in orchards. As a property owner whose land is included in the district she demanded a vote and also because she is a member of the Saratoaga Political Equality Club.

The election officers informed Miss Beaton that there was no law under which she could cast a vote, and she left the polling place.

Leopold's Daughter to Wed

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A Brussels dispatch to the Daily Mail reports that after 42 years waiting the love story of Princess Clementine of Belgium and Prince Victor Napoleon is about to come to a happy climax. Their marriage is now imminent. When King Leopold heard of his daughter's intention to marry the imperialist pretender to the throne of France he refused his consent. Owing to the King's objection Princess Clementine and Prince Victor ceased to meet, but remained faithful to each other.

Newport's Season Too Strenuous

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—A number of Newport's prominent summer residents have been seized with illness recently, due to the strenuousness of the present social season. The members of the colony have been kept on the go continually for the last month with dinners and other forms of social gaiety.

On Monday Mrs. French Vanderbilt fainted while at a dinner dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince. Last week, while at a dinner dance given by Mrs. James B. Haggis, Mrs. William E. Carter fainted. On Tuesday, at a lunch given by Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, Mrs. Reynolds Hitt and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt fainted.

Girl With "Ugly Face" Wanted

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—There is a good position in a North shop which some St. Louis girl may have for the asking—if she has the right kind of face.

WANTED.—Cashier, an ugly cashier; permanent position. Apply at once to 702 Washington avenue.

This advertisement appears among the "wants" in St. Louis newspapers this morning.

Too frequent peals of wedding bells for previous cashiers at the florist's shop is given as the reason for the attempt on the part of the firm to get an "ugly" money handler.

Five cashiers, not ugly, during the last year have resigned the position now vacant and the departures of some of them have been so unexpected as to seriously inconvenience their employer.

ACCUSED POISONER AND HER ALLEGED VICTIM.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Unable to furnish a bond of $2500 for her appearance at the next session of the United States District Court, Mrs. Helen Barnhardt, charged with sending poisoned candy through the mails with the intention of causing death or serious injury to Miss Beulah Mountz of this city, was held in prison. She seems unrepentant and does not apparently realize the gravity of the crime with which she is charged. A chemical analysis of the candy proved that it contained strychnine. Mrs. Barnhardt, who is a young married woman, is said to have been jealous of Miss Mountz' popularity.

A HUSBAND'S FOURTEEN ERRORS IN LIFE

To tell her how to run her club.
To bank his money in her name.
To expect her to like his female relatives.
To forget to praise her.
To expect her to be grown up.
To expect to have the last word.
To take her opinions too seriously.
To forget that she will change her mind.
To let her open his letters.
To borrow her umbrella.
To get mad because his bed is not tucked in at the foot.
To tell her his mother used to cook.
To hesitate to tell her where he is going and where he has been.
To work for her so hard that he has no time to devote to her.—Life.

Too Much Alice All The Matter With Wife

BALTIMORE.—"I am just commencing to get used to my wife," said the bridegroom. "I am just learning to know that she is not insane, however much she may sometimes sound as if she were."

"When we were first married and I would make some foolish remark and she would reply, 'You don't know much, said the duchess, and that's a fact,' I really felt ashamed. Looking at her, however, I would find her face was not flushed, and she would give no other indications of illness, so I being merely a symptom of some incipient mental trouble."

"Then one day she broke the alarm clock winding it too tight. I came upon her gravely shaking it. 'But it was the best butter,' she said."

"I started for the doctor that time, but he was not at home, and when I returned she seemed better, so I let that occasion go."

"Her sister made her angry at dinner, and she remarked, 'You are nothing but a pack of cards, anyway.'"

"I glanced hastily at the sister, and the sister was smiling, so I came to the conclusion that momentary delirium was a family failing."

"Then one day she—my wife that is—made a shirt waist case out of a cracker box, and even as I praised it she turned on me. 'Nonsense! You know it is awful!' she said. 'While it was a very nice pig, it makes a very ugly baby.'"

"This was too much. 'You frighten me half to death when you make these senseless remarks!' I cried. 'Please don't do it again.'"

"Senseless remarks?" she asked, puzzled. "What senseless remarks?"

And then she went into peals of laughter. "You mean Alice, don't you? I quote 'Alice in Wonderland' so much that half the time I forget I am quoting."

"And if you will believe me, she brought out a battered volume of a child's story and forced me to read it; a fairy tale thing all about guinea pigs and white rabbits and March hares and mad hatters—and while she no longer frightens me when she quotes from it, I cannot, to save my life, understand what she sees in the thing to like."

Newlyweds Taken to Jail

NEW YORK.—Accused of attempting to smuggle, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Dannenbaum of Philadelphia, a bride and bridegroom returning from their honeymoon, were arrested in Hoboken shortly after they had come ashore from the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

Customs officers say that upon the person of the bride was found a valuable pearl necklace and that the bridegroom had concealed an Oriental necklace and a pair of gold cuff buttons.

Not satisfied with the declarations made by the pair, an inspector had Mrs. Dannenbaum searched by a matron. The pearls were found underneath Mrs. Dannenbaum's waist.

Mr. and Mrs. Dannenbaum were taken before Special Deputy Surveyor George H. Smythe, who ordered the arrest of the couple. They gave bail before United States Commissioner Ross in Hoboken for examination. Dannenbaum is said to be a well-to-do ribbon manufacturer.

W. A. Julian, a shoe manufacturer of Cincinnati, and his wife arrived yesterday by the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie. A woman inspector who searched Mrs. Julian found two bracelets and two brooches valued at less than $100 which she had not declared, and Mr. Julian said he supposed that his wife had forgotten about the jewelry. It was confiscated.

BABE OF 3 SPENDS DAY AND ONE NIGHT IN LOS ANGELES CITY PRISON

LOS ANGELES.—Phiful in its details is the babyhood tragedy of little Mary Templer. Mary is only three years old. She looks out on life through a pair of big deep blue eyes that peer inquiringly from under sunlit clusters of wavy brown hair. She is plenty charming enough to be called pretty and a mother would call her an "angel."

Yet by order of court Mary has spent a day and a night as a prisoner in the jail amid women imprisoned in the tanks for drunkenness and receiving the carcasses of some and hearing the jibes of other malefactors of all degrees.

And all because Mary's parents had had a misunderstanding and a judge had ordered Mary sent to jail instead of to the care of a woman parole officer or to the Detention home.

Judge Wilber issued a bench warrant for Baby Mary. The warrant was handed to Policeman Sanders, who forthwith arrested Mary, who didn't even have a chance to see her mother, who happened to be absent at the time.

So this tottering bit of girlhood was haled to prison. The big-hearted policeman looked at the tiny prisoner, gulped back the unkind things he wanted to say about people who would get such a sweet baby into so awful predicament, and then bundling her up in his arms, strode away.

WARRANT ASTOUNDS JAILER.

When Sanders reached the county jail with his burden, Jailer Gallagher was astonished at the fact of a baby girl being committed to his care as a common prisoner. Puzzled, he summoned Sheriff Hammel. The two studied the warrant, but under its terms there was nothing for them to do but take the child.

Mary was the first baby prisoner to come to the county jail, and there was a great hurrying and scurrying to take care of her. Baby food is not on the

NEW YORK.—"Next year at this time I shall be inside the beautiful peace of the little white convent at Naples."

The woman who makes this prophecy has no resemblance to a religionist or a recluse. Her appearance, on the contrary, was rather that of a fashionable globe-trotter as she stood waiting for the expressman to remove an equipment of fashionable traveling luggage which in the numbers of up-to-date boxes and bags represented would have done credit to an actress.

It was Mrs. Hester Davis Estes, who is to go into cloister near Naples in October and who stood in her room at the Hotel Eastwood preparatory to leaving Chicago for her last trip into the world before leaving for Naples to prepare for her novitiate.

TELLS OF RECEPTION.

The determination of this socially active woman to enter a convent lately became known to her friends at a reception given in the studio of the sculptor Josef Mario Korbel in the Fine Arts Building. The occasion was the exhibition of the first model of a portrait bust of Mrs. Estes which has lately been done by the artist.

"It is the spirit of myself as a mother that I am going to dedicate to him," said Mrs. Estes. "It represents me as my son has always known me and it is so lifelike that it will be like having him with him when I have gone out of his life." This announcement was freely made by Mrs. Estes, but the name of the cloister which is to receive her and the details of the steps which must be taken before she can become a cloistered nun and even before she can enter the novitiate, are held a secret from all but her most intimate friends.

HER FRIENDS ASTONISHED.

According to her friends, the life of the cloister for such a personality as they know Mrs. Estes to be will indeed be a tragedy. Gay, pleasure-loving, with a season in Paris every year, with house parties on an island that she owns in the North, with winters in Mexico, where her only son is learning mining engineering, and with tours which her friends take with her all over the gay places of the world, it seems incredible to all of them that Mrs. Estes can carry out her purpose.

"What! Scrub floors, receive scourings, abase herself before a mother superior? We cannot imagine Mrs. Estes doing things like that," is the general comment. But that Mrs. Estes takes her vocation seriously, whatever her reasons, one can hardly doubt who hears her talk.

Rich, attractive and young, even though she has a son old enough to be in the mining business, Mrs. Estes seems one of those favored of fortune. That she might have masculine adorners at her feet without number is merely a matter of observation. What is it, then, that good fortune has done to her that makes her long to turn her back on it forever?

PARTING OF WAYS.

"It is a parting of the ways that I have come to," she says. It is the leaving of one life and taking up another."

Mrs. Estes also believes that the spirit of the new life which she is to lead in the cloister is represented in a new photograph of her which has lately been taken, in which her hands are held up to her face. "How anyone as ugly as I am can be made into a picture of the spirit of which is so beautiful is what I cannot understand," she says with little apparent appreciation of her own charms, which are repeated in flesh and blood even more strongly than they appear in the picture.

If it is a Poor Clare convent the life will be a vigorous one. For one thing Mrs. Estes will have to go barefoot. The rigor of the laws governing this order has never been relaxed in Italy as it has in America, where the coldness of the winter has made it impossible for a member to go about in her bare feet.

In Italy there is no end to the abasement and humiliation of a cloistered sister of Poor Clare. The only connection that she has with the hopes and joys of the world is in the one thing that she is allowed to make prayers and supplication for lovers. All the unfortunate in love bring their troubles to her and ask her to pray that the cold heart of the unloving one may be warmed. Whether she prays in just this line is not known, but one thing is sure, that the sister of Poor Clare does pray for lovers.

at less than $100 which she had not declared, and Mr. Julian said he supposed that his wife had forgotten about the jewelry. It was confiscated.

Little Mary's mother, distracted at her loss, set up a search for her husband. She found him Sunday. She told him of the letter explaining everything and detailed all her movements since leaving the lonely ranch. He was convinced, and together the two hastened to recover possession of the child.

Judge Wilber was not at home. They found him at church and with an insistence that would not be halted they got his ear and told the story of their misunderstanding. He wrote the release right there in church and had both parents sign it on the back so that he could indorse their signature for identification at the jail.
